MIDWEST FOOD BANK MAKES CHANGES IN FLORIDA LOCATION LEADERSHIP

NORMAL, IL—Midwest Food Bank COO Pat Burke announced additions to the organization's leadership team. Karl Steidinger has taken the position of Procurement Director. Steidinger has been the Executive Director of Midwest Food Bank Florida in Ft. Myers since 2017. He will fill the strategic role of food procurement to support the growing organization and the continued demand for food for its 2,400 non-profit partners.

Additionally, John McKinnon will assume the Executive Director role vacated by Steidinger. McKinnon joined the organization in 2023 as the Community Relations and Volunteer Coordinator. He has two decades of experience in both business and non-profit management. Before coming to Midwest Food Bank, he was the Executive Director and CEO of several Adult and Teen Challenge locations.

"Midwest Food Bank is responding to those in need while modeling a Christ-like example," says McKinnon. "I could not be more grateful for the opportunity to serve here."

"The Midwest Food Bank mission will be well-served by this strengthening of our leadership team," says Burke. "These shifts are great strides forward and position MFB for continued growth."

Midwest Food Bank was founded in 2003 on the Kieser family farm in rural McLean County, Illinois. Partner non-profit agencies receive food from MFB at no cost. MFB, the largest food bank in the U.S., has 10 domestic locations serving 23 states. There are also two international locations, East Africa and Haiti. For more information about Midwest Food Bank, please visit their website at midwestfoodbank.org.

Midwest Food Bank (MFB) is a private, non-profit 501(c)(3) charity. As a faith-based organization, it is the mission of Midwest Food Bank to share the love of Christ by alleviating hunger and malnutrition locally and throughout the world and providing disaster relief; all without discrimination. Our vision is to provide industry-leading food relief to those in need while feeding them spiritually.
